Manners are behaviours used every day to make a good impression on others and to feel good about oneself. No matter where you are - Whether you are eating at a fancy restaurant, in the cafeteria, or at home with friends and families, good table manners make for a more pleasant meal . While you may not need to worry about confusing your salad fork with your desert fork when dining with friends , some basic table manners should never be forgotten . Here are some easy-to-follow Do's and Don'ts :

On one hand , you should sit properly (and straight) in your chair and talk to people about pleasant things instead of nonsense . Keep in mind that placing your napkin on your lap may be useful very frequently at any dinner table . Don't forget to wait until everyone is seated before starting to eat and asking someone to pass the food you need , rather than reach across the table . It is regarded very inconsiderate . You should chew with your mouth closed . you should say "excuse me" or "I'm sorry" if you burp . It is advisable to say "no thank you" if you don't want a certain dish or are full .

On the other hand , you should not overload your fork or plate . It is unacceptable to chew with your mouth open , it is considered impolite . It is not recommended well-mannered to push your plate away when you finish eating lean on the table .
