Mastery of Language (7 Points)

Activity One: Spot the mistakes and correct them (2 pts):

Original text: every year rich familys donate to the poor. They prefer give their donations to charitable associations.

Corrections:

- every → Every (Capitalization at the beginning of the sentence)
- familys → families (Plural spelling rule: consonant + y becomes ies)
- prefer give → prefer giving or prefer to give (Verb "prefer" is followed by gerund or to-infinitive)

Activity Two: Write the verbs in brackets in the correct tense (3 pts):

Community bonds will be strengthened (or: are strengthened) if people volunteer in charitable activities. So, if you have enough time, do not hesitate to join a charitable association.

Detailed breakdown (First Conditional / Passive / Imperative):

- 1) (to strengthen) → will be strengthened (or strengthen / are strengthened depending on structural context)
- 2) (to volunteer) → volunteer (Present Simple in the 'if' clause of a First Conditional sentence)
- 3) (not to hesitate) → do not hesitate (Imperative form for advice/instruction)

Activity Three: Write the following words in the right box according to the pronunciation of their final 's' (2 pts):

Words to classify: rules, juices, weeks, occupiers

/s/	/z/	/iz/
weeks	rules, occupiers	juices

PART TWO: Situation of Integration (6 Points)

Task: Write a paragraph giving your opinion about the importance of volunteering and convincing classmates to join charitable activities.

On the occasion of International Volunteer Day, I strongly believe that volunteering is one of the noblest actions a person can undertake. Helping others without getting paid not only spreads happiness and relieves the suffering of the needy, but it also builds a better, more supportive community. When we engage in charitable activities, we learn to become responsible and tolerant persons while spending our time on meaningful things. Therefore, I encourage all my classmates not to hesitate to join charitable associations and lend a helping hand to those in need. Together, we can make our society a much better place!
